INTRODUCTION

In 2020-2021 the European Training Foundation implemented a study in the area of active labour market policies (ALMPs) in the Republic of Moldova to explore the elements of effectiveness and innovation. The final aim was to identify key policy messages and recommendations for the next generation of measures aimed at human capital development and for the strengthening of the role of evidence for policy making. As a follow-up to the study, ETF aims to support the National Employment Agency in the Republic of Moldova with thematic exchanges with the EU public employment services to build capacities and knowledge in the identified priority areas.

The aim of this peer-learning meeting is to present how impact assessment is integrated in the activities of the Danish public employment service and to explain the best approaches to the implementation of such an assessment. It will also allow to reflect on how this experience could be transferred and adapted to the context of the Republic of Moldova.
